

1. Hello, this is 6 Minute English from BBC Learning English.

Hello, this is 6 Minute English from BBC Learning English.

2. I'm Neil.

我叫尼尔。

3. And I'm Beth.

而我叫贝丝。

4. Neil, when you're chatting with friends, do you usually have the same or different opinion on things going on in the world?

尼尔，当你和朋友们聊天时，对于世界上发生的事情，你们通常会持有相同的观点，还是不同的看法呢？

5. Well, that's interesting.

嗯，那确实很有意思。

6. I think I probably have quite similar opinions and that's kind of why we're friends.

我想我们的观点应该非常相似，也许正是因为这个原因，我们才成为了朋友。

7. Ah, well, we might like to believe that we're accepting and tolerant of others' beliefs, but for many people it can be difficult to communicate with people who have very different opinions to our own.

啊，嗯，我们或许愿意相信自己能够接纳并包容他人的观点，但对很多人来说，与那些与自己意见截然不同的人进行交流确实是一件困难的事。

8. And this lack of acceptance could be increasing with our use of social media.

而这种被接纳感的缺失，可能会随着我们越来越多地使用社交媒体而愈发严重。

9. For example, algorithms tend to show us what we already like and agree with.

例如，算法往往会向我们展示那些我们已经喜欢或认同的内容。

10. Of course, we can't always agree with everyone else – we all have personal opinions and beliefs on topics like religion and politics – but some worry that it's becoming more and more common to react with violence when they disagree, than to solve disagreements together peacefully.

当然，我们并不总能与他人达成一致——在宗教和政治等议题上，我们每个人都会有自己的观点和信念——但有些人担心，当人们意见不合时，采取暴力手段来回应的情况正变得越来越普遍，而通过和平方式共同解决分歧的现象却越来越少。

11. So are we becoming a more divided society?

那么，我们是否正在变成一个更加分裂的社会呢？

12. Divided means in disagreement with and separated from others, to not be together.

分歧意味着与他人存在意见不合，彼此疏远，无法在一起。

13. And how can we be more accepting and open to the opinions of others?

那么，我们该如何更加接纳他人观点，以更加开放的态度对待不同的意见呢？

14. That's what we'll be discussing in this programme, and as usual, we'll be learning some useful new words and phrases.

这就是我们将在这个节目中讨论的内容，而且像往常一样，我们会学习一些有用的新单词和短语。

15. Remember, you can find all the vocabulary from this programme on our website, bbclearningenglish.com.

请记住，您可以在我们的网站bbclearningenglish.com上找到这个课程中出现的所有词汇。

16. But first I have a question for you, Beth.

但首先，我有个问题要问你，贝丝。

17. According to a recent Ipsos poll, what percentage of the British population believes society is divided?

根据最近的一项Ipsos民意调查，有多少比例的英国人认为社会存在分裂现象？

18. Is it a 20%, b 50% or c 80%?

是20%，还是50%，又或者是80%？

19. I'm going to say 50%.

我想说是50%。

20. Well, we'll find out the answer later in the programme.

嗯，我们会在节目后面的环节中找到答案。

21. Paul Dolan, Professor of Behavioural Science at the London School of Economics, thinks we should learn how to control our emotions and be open to discussions when we disagree.

伦敦政治经济学院行为科学教授保罗·多兰认为，我们应该学会如何控制自己的情绪，并在意见不合时愿意进行讨论。

22. Here he explains more about how to do this on BBC World Service programme All In The Mind.

在这里，他在BBC世界服务台的节目《All In The Mind》中进一步解释了如何做到这一点。

23. generally we're going to be making better decisions and more respectfully if we calm down it takes 15 minutes when you're proper aroused for the amygdala to calm down but within a few seconds it can start calming down right you take a deep breath and you start feeling calmer it's not to say that always being calm is good anger can be motivational and positive emotions actually can be very good for us generally people make better decisions and are more engaging and more open when they're happier

一般来说，如果我们能够冷静下来，就会做出更好的决策，也会表现得更加礼貌。当你处于高度兴奋的状态时，需要15分钟时间才能让杏仁核恢复平静，但只要深呼吸几秒钟，它就能

开始平静下来。你会发现自己变得更加冷静。这并不是说始终保持冷静状态就是好事——愤怒有时也能起到激励作用，而积极的情绪实际上对我们非常有益。通常情况下，当人们更快乐的时候，他们会做出更好的决策，也会更加积极主动、更加善于倾听他人意见。

24. But much of the time it will be just a case of calming down to try and take some of the heat out of the environment.

但大多数情况下，只需要让自己冷静下来，就能缓解周围环境的紧张氛围。

25. Paul thinks we should take time to calm down when we feel aroused, which here means to feel anger or strong disagreement.

保罗认为，当我们感到愤怒或强烈反对时，应该花些时间让自己冷静下来。

26. He said it takes 15 minutes for the amygdala, the part of the brain that experiences emotions, to calm down when we're aroused.

他说，当我们处于兴奋状态时，大脑中负责产生情绪的杏仁核需要15分钟的时间才能恢复平静。

27. While anger can be motivational, make us more determined and enthusiastic, Paul says people can speak more openly when they're happier, when heat is taken out of the environment.

虽然愤怒有时能起到激励作用，让我们变得更加坚定和热情，但保罗指出，当人们更快乐、当环境中的紧张情绪得到缓解时，他们就会更愿意坦诚地表达自己的观点。

28. Heat, in this context, means an intense feeling like anger.

在这里，“愤怒”指的是一种强烈的情绪。

29. Now, one recent dating experiment looked into what people say they want in an ideal partner according to their dating profile.

最近有一项关于约会行为的实验，研究了人们在填写约会资料时所声称自己理想伴侣应该具备哪些特质。

30. Researchers found that many single people included details on things like what they want their partner to look like,

研究人员发现，许多单身人士在描述自己理想中的伴侣形象时，会详细说明对方应该具备哪些特征。

31. their height, the political party they vote for, but many also say they want a partner who is open-minded and tolerant of different views.

除了身高和他们所支持的政党之外，许多人还表示，他们希望找到一个思想开明、能够包容不同观点的伴侣。

32. If you are open-minded, you're willing to listen to and consider new ideas.

如果你思想开明，你就会愿意倾听并考虑新的想法。

33. However, the researchers concluded that while people want a partner to be open-minded and tolerant, they don't want to be very open-minded themselves.

然而，研究人员得出结论认为，虽然人们希望自己的伴侣能够思想开明、宽容大度，但他们

自己并不想变得如此开明。

34. So how can we be more open to getting to know people that we might disagree with?

那么，我们该如何以更加开放的心态去认识那些与我们观点不同的人呢？

35. Here's Paul Dolan again, talking to presenter Claudia Hammond of BBC World Service's All In The Mind.

这是保罗·多兰再次接受BBC世界服务频道《All In The Mind》节目主持人克劳迪娅·哈蒙德的采访。

36. So I guess one very obvious answer is to get offline.

所以，我认为一个非常明显的解决办法就是离线使用。

37. I mean, to actually just get out more and meet people, because it's what political scientists think is the silver bullet.

我的意思是，实际上应该多出去走动，多结识一些人，因为政治学家认为这才是解决问题的关键所在。

38. The more you're around people that are different, the more you realise that actually they're not that different and you become more tolerant and open-minded. 你与那些与自己不同的人相处得越多，就会越意识到他们其实并没有那么大的差异，于是你会变得更为宽容、思想也更加开放。

39. So being around people that are different, I think that's probably the way that we're going to tackle that problem.

因此，与那些与我们不同的人相处，我认为这或许正是我们解决这个问题的方法。

40. Paul says political scientists think the silver bullet is to get offline and meet people.

保罗表示，政治学家们认为，摆脱网络束缚、与他人面对面交流才是解决问题的关键所在。

41. A silver bullet means a simple solution to a complicated problem.

“银弹方案”指的是解决复杂问题的简单方法。

42. By meeting people who have different opinions and beliefs to you, the more you'll realise they're not that different to you at all.

通过结识那些与你持有不同观点和信仰的人，你会越来越意识到，他们其实与你并没有那么大的差别。

43. And that could make you more accepting and lead to a society that is less divided.

而这会让你变得更加包容，进而促成一个分裂较少的社会。

44. And speaking of divided, isn't it time you revealed the answer to your question, Neil?

说到“分裂”这个话题，尼尔，现在是不是该告诉你自己那个问题的答案了？

45. Yes, I asked what percentage of the British population believes society is divided, according to a recent poll by the organisation Ipsos.

是的，根据Ipsos机构最近进行的一项调查，我询问了英国多少比例的人认为社会存在分裂现象。

46. I said 50%.

我说的是50%。

47. Was that correct?

那样做对吗？

48. It was not correct.

这是不正确的。

49. It is in fact 80%.

实际上，这个比例是80%。

50. Wow, that's a lot!

哇，数量真不少啊！

51. OK, let's recap the vocabulary we've learned in this programme, starting with divided, which means in disagreement, not together.

好的，让我们回顾一下在这个课程中所学到的词汇。首先来看“divided”这个词，它的意思是“有分歧的”，而不是“团结一致的”。

52. Aroused means feel a strong emotion, like anger.

被激发意味着会产生强烈的情绪，比如愤怒。

53. If something is motivational, it makes us determined and enthusiastic.

如果某事物具有激励作用，那么它就会让我们变得坚定而充满热情。

54. Heat means an intense feeling, like anger.

“Heat”指的是一种强烈的情绪，比如愤怒。

55. If you are open-minded, you are willing to listen to and consider new ideas.

如果你思想开明，你就会愿意倾听并考虑新的想法。

56. And finally, a silver bullet means a simple solution to a complicated problem.

最后，“银弹”指的是解决复杂问题的简单方法。

57. Once again, our six minutes are up.

再一次，我们的六分钟时间已经用完了。

58. If you've enjoyed this programme, why not try practising the new vocabulary you've learnt with our worksheet?

如果您喜欢这个节目，为什么不试着用我们的练习册来练习所学到的新词汇呢？

59. It's available to download now from our website, bbclearningenglish.com.

现在您可以通过我们的网站bbclearningenglish.com下载它。

60. And you could also try out the quiz while you're there.
而且你在那里的时候也可以试试这个测验。

61. Goodbye for now!
暂时再见了!

62. Goodbye!
再见!

闪电英语